Zacchaeus, Come Down!

Dear Friends and Partners,

Happy New Year from Haiti! Recently, we visited a rural mountain area called Tè Rouj (Red Earth) to show "The God Man" video and distribute "The Book of Hope" in a small school. While Ruben our Intern was handing out books, I noticed "Zacchaeus" in a tree outside. (red shirt) He had been watching the morning video and book presentation. Then, during the afternoon presentation, Zacchaeus once again returned to his tree while other unschooled children also gathered to watch through a hole in the side of the unfinished school building.

Standing Outside Looking In

The school director had been very gracious to allow these unschooled children to watch from the outside. Upon our departure, we were swarmed by these kids asking for books. We gave them the same French books we had just given the children inside the school and encouraged them to find someone to read to them. The boy I named "Zacchaeus" (center red) and his friends are representative of a huge population of unschooled children who struggle to understand the French language. Please pray that God would provide resources to develop a Creole language dub of "The God Man" so kids like these can begin hearing the full message of "The God Man" in their native tongue.

Welcoming a new Family Member

Joey was praying for a puppy. A few days before Christmas, his Mom asked him to carry a bag inside the house. He found a Shih Tzu pup inside!

He promptly named him Max and began learning the responsibilities of being a dog's master. Mom and Dad have also been actively involved in house training!

Thanks for your faithfulness to God's work in Haiti!

All our love, Dan, Liz & Joey
