Training Teams to reach Kids

Dear Friends and Partners,

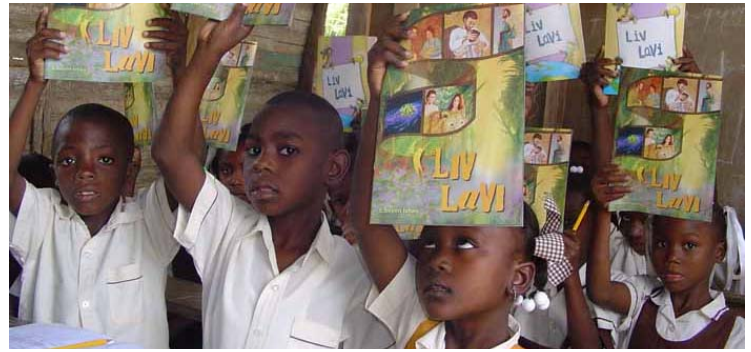

Greetings from Haiti. Over the last month we conducted 8 Book of Hope Distribution Training Seminars designed to prepare Evangelism Teams to reach into every school in their community and touch each child with a dynamic presentation of the Gospel and a personal copy of the "Book of Hope."

Some of the groups were small and some large. Above, our intern Ruben is training a group of school directors in rural and secluded Belladere.

Wow! What a view. These directors from Belladere teach kids in schools like this located in difficult to reach mountainous areas. Our interns were able to arrive at this school using a motorcycle taxi to save hours of walking. There are thousands of isolated little schools like this throughout Haiti which present a significant challenge when trying to send teams to reach them.

These are the beautiful kids that were inside the little school pictured at left. They all received books.

Inner City and University Groups

On the other extreme, this seminar for a large Port-au-Prince youth group was attended by more than 250.

This group of young adults received certificates after they attended a training seminar sponsored by a university and made their first book distribution. One of the young men who participated in the seminar said, "Before now I didn't have a ministry but the books helped me to start a brand new ministry to children."

Thanks for sharing in the joy of God's work with us!

All our love, Dan, Liz & Joey
